The Willamette River is a natural resource that needs to be preserved. The fact that it has contaminants in it that are unsafe to wildlife and humans that were caused by industries is wrong. Responsibility needs to be taken to restore what once was.

We can not leave generations a toxic dump unsuitable for life. It is unfair to future generations and the health of us today. The EPA needs to take action and create a plan of waste removal and to hold businesses accountable for their decisions in polluting the environment.
